JEDLIK MOTORS

WE ARE REDEFINING THE WAY THE WORLD COMMUTES IN CITIES.

Jedlik is named after Ányos Jedlik, who built the world's first electric motor in 1828. We are continuing that legacy on Indian roads.

SECTION 01 — THE NEED

WHAT DOES AN URBAN COMMUTER REALLY NEED?

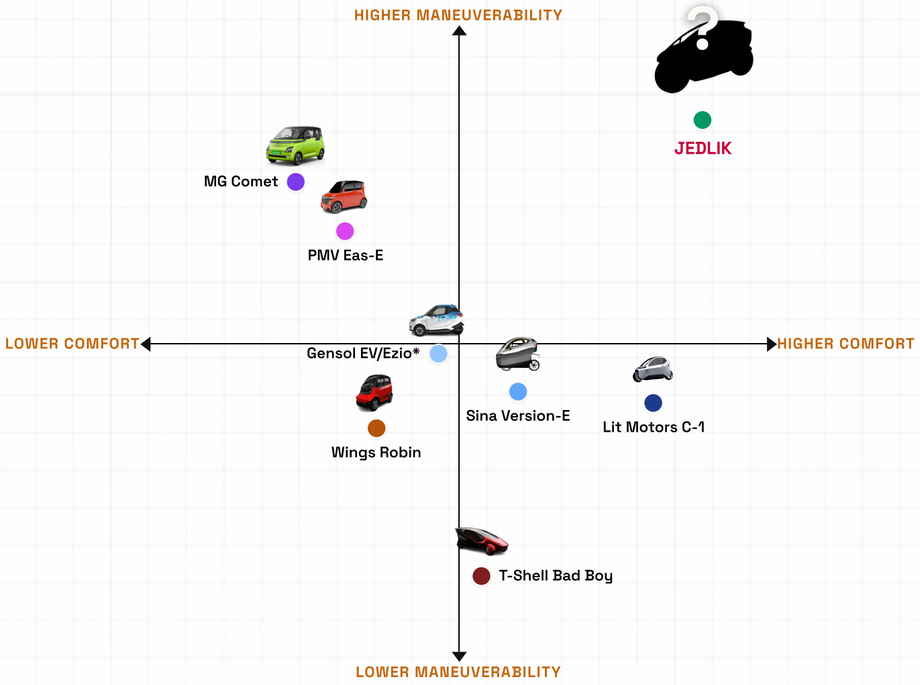

Not just a vehicle. A better way to move.

HIGHER SPEED & STATUS 01	COMFORT & AIR CONDITIONING 02	ANDROID DASHBOARD 03
BOOT STORAGE 04	WEATHER PROTECTION 05	FUEL EFFICIENCY 06
QUICK PICKUP 07	HELMET-FREE DRIVING 08	HIGHLY MANEUVERABLE 09
EASY PARKING 10

SECTION 02 — THE MAP

WHAT'S ON THE ROAD TODAY?

Seven serious attempts at an enclosed commuter. None of them sit in the top-right quadrant — the only one with both high comfort and high maneuverability, where Jedlik lives.

Redefine the class.

SECTION 06 — WHAT THE E-POD COMES WITH

- AUTONOMOUS VEHICLE
  An autonomous vehicle that drives itself, on steer-by-wire control with no rigid steering column.
- AIRBAGS
  Automotive-grade safety restraint built into the cabin.
- TOP SPEED 120 KM/HR
  City-legal pace with headroom for highway overtakes.
- PUSHBACK SEATS
  Seat travel that adjusts to the rider, not the other way round.
- FULLY ENCLOSED
  A closed cabin with a roof and glass — all-weather protection.
- AIR CONDITIONING
  A cooled cabin for hot city traffic.
- 200 KM RANGE
  A full working day of commuting on a single charge.

SECTION 07 — THE TRICK

THE TRICK WITH TWO WHEELS.

STEER-BY-WIRE

No rigid steel column. A computer sends the turn command through a wire, like a game controller. Lighter, faster, more precise steering than any mechanical linkage.

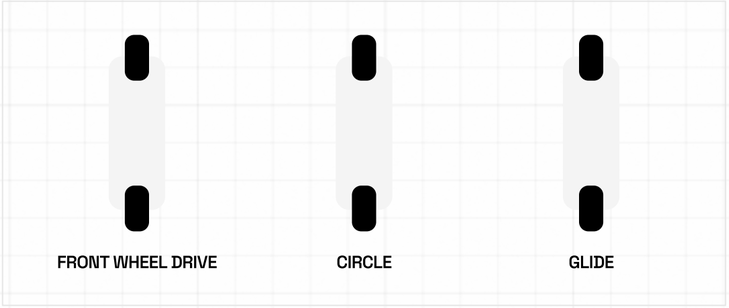

— Lighter weight

— Zero rigid column

— Ultra-precise digital response

CRAB-WALK STEERING

Front and rear wheels turn the same way at once, not just the front wheel. The e-POD glides sideways for effortless, wiggle-free tight parking.

— Front and rear wheels steer together

— Glides sideways into ultra-tight parking
